

What my family would need to know, all in one place.

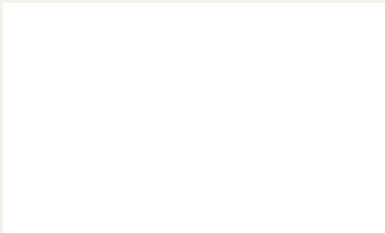

A 42-page organizer you fill in by hand. Not a will, not a legal document: a map of where everything is and who to call, so the people you love aren't guessing on the hardest week of their lives.

- Every page your family would reach for: key contacts, medical information, where the documents are, accounts and beneficiaries, insurance, debts, home, devices, pets and final wishes.
- A beneficiary check-up and the four common mistakes that send money to the wrong person, in plain words.
- Step lists for the first 72 hours, the first month and the first year, plus a calls and claims log, a yearly review page and a wallet card.

Rules and figures checked against the agency sources named inside, with the as-of date on the page. Information and planning tool only, not legal, tax, financial or medical advice.

WRITTEN BY A FINANCE EXECUTIVE

ProofNotFluff

END OF LIFE PLANNER AND EMERGENCY BINDER

Everything They'll Need

The family emergency binder: what my family would need to know, all in one place. Contacts, documents, money, home, digital life, final wishes, and the first year after a death, step by step.

INSIDE

- Start here and key contacts
- About me and my family
- Health and care decisions
- Where my documents are
- Money, accounts and beneficiaries
- Insurance, debts and bills
- Home, utilities and vehicles

- Digital life
- Children, dependents and pets
- Final wishes and obituary
- A letter in my own words
- For my family: the first 72 hours, the first month, the first year
- Keeping it current

WRITTEN BY A FINANCE EXECUTIVE

ProofNotFluff

