Job estimate template

Print page 1 and fill it by hand, or use the Excel version (proofnotfluff.com/downloads/job-estimate-template.xlsx), which adds every line up for you. Price each line with the free calculators at proofnotfluff.com.

1. Your details. Write your business name, phone and email at the top, or type them once in the Excel version so they print every time.
2. One line per piece of work. Item, what it covers, quantity, unit and rate. Amount is quantity times rate.
3. Add it up. Subtotal, less any discount, plus sales tax on what is left, is the total. The deposit is a share of the total; the balance is the rest.
4. Get it signed. The customer signs the acceptance lines and returns the estimate with the deposit. Keep a copy.

Deposits and cancelling. Rules on deposits, cancelling and the wording of signed estimates vary by state and city, especially for work sold at the customer's home. This template doesn't say what any law requires. Have a local attorney check your deposit, payment and cancellation terms before you use them with clients.

Worked example in the Excel file: $760.00 of work, less a 10% discount of $76.00, plus an example 5% sales tax of $34.20, is $718.20; a 25% deposit is $179.55 and $538.65 is due when the job is done.

For general information and planning only. This is not legal, tax, financial, medical or other professional advice, and using it doesn't create a professional relationship. Results are estimates based on the numbers you enter. Figures were checked on October 26, 2026 and can change. See the Terms of Use page before you rely on anything here.

Accuracy. The product was checked on October 26, 2026. It uses no outside rates or rules: every price, quantity, discount, tax rate and deposit comes from you. The example business, its customer and the job are made up; the example prices are the quotes the free pressure washing price calculator at proofnotfluff.com gives for its own example business. Whether a service is taxed, and at what rate, depends on where you work. You're responsible for confirming anything you rely on.

Estimates. Calculations depend on the numbers you enter and simplify real-world conditions. They are estimates, not promises of any result, income, savings, approval or outcome.
